WHAT

WHICH TOPICS ARE COVERED IN THIS COURSE?

This module helps to understand the challenges of inclusive formulation and implementation in partnership, of effective, efficient and sustainable skills development policies. The course covers:

- Design of skills development policies linked to employment: national, sectoral and territorial levels and links to development planning
- Cross-cutting dimensions of the future of work: gender, digital transformation and greening, labour migration, challenges of the informal economy
- Social dialogue and significant involvement of social partners
- Policy steering: coordination, monitoring legal and regulatory framework

WHAT WILL I LEARN?

Participants will have strengthened their knowledge to participate significantly in policy-making, with a better understanding of:

- Skills development policy-making processes
- Key functions of a skills development system and the links and flows between them
- Essential themes to integrate to address the challenges of the future of work
- Existing links with employment policies and development planning

WHAT WILL I BE ABLE TO DO?

Participants will be connected to a global network of policy makers and able to design new policies at national, sectoral and local level. They will be able to:

- Identify bottlenecks and ways to improve policies in their own context, with clear ideas of policy options to pursue

* This course is one of the three modules of the Certificate of Advanced Studies on Governance of Skills Development Systems jointly organized by the ITCILO and the Swiss Federal University of Vocational Education and Training (SFUVET). It can therefore be taken as a single course of ITCILO or integrated in a 3-course package leading to the CAS. For more information on more articulated learning paths, please contact skillsdevelopment@itcilo.org

- Define a path for the formulation and/or revision of their policies at national, sectoral or local level
 - Identify the most appropriate structures and steering levels for the implementation of their policies

WHY

WHY SHOULD I REGISTER?

- The course has a systemic approach, highlighting best practices and offering methodologies for the definition of strategies for their entire training system
- Participants are encouraged to share their individual experiences during the training days, hence creating an international community of practice
- Given the unique position of the ILO, participants will be placed at the heart of the current debate and policy options to pursue
