BACKGROUND

The ILO Participatory Gender Audit (PGA) is a guided self-assessment tool used by organizations to reflect and analyse their own gender capacity, challenges and good practices. It also promotes organizational learning on gender equality and gender mainstreaming through a participatory methodology.

The PGA is carried out by a Facilitation team, which engages in data compilation, direct observation and collective dialogue with people in the organization, aimed to produce a report that describes the organization's capacity to promote gender equality and diversity, indicating its strengths and weaknesses.

OVERALL OBJECTIVE OF THE CERTIFICATION PROGRAMME

WHY IS A CERTIFICATION NECESSARY?

The ILO PGA Certification will ensure high quality standards for facilitators implementing the PGA and will provide guarantees to organizations undergoing a PGA that the certified PGA Facilitators are meeting or exceeding the quality standards set out by the ILO and the ITCILO.

The certification will provide Facilitators with a specific set of know-what and know-how competences, such as:

- Applying a gender perspective to analytical work;
- Detecting and mapping discrimination at work;
- Identifying strategies for advocacy and capacity-building in promoting inclusive workplaces;
- Improving communication competence and organizational capacity to form a coordinated Gender Audit team;
- Analysing accountability, evaluation and monitoring systems and instruments in place for gender equality and change management;
- Identifying new challenges and possible improvements.

At the end of the process, Certified PGA Facilitators will have access to:

- All PGA course materials, case studies, training tools and reference materials;
- A network of already Certified PGA Facilitators from around the world who support each other in delivery and identifying professional opportunities;
- Preferential access to future PGA curricula and ILO referrals.

The Certification process is a valuable professional development experience in itself. However, any person who participates in the certification process, regardless of whether the candidate is ultimately certified, will have had an opportunity to learn new training techniques and to strengthen areas of technical weakness.

TARGET AUDIENCE

The training is designed to people with gender expertise interested in strengthening their capacities in the implementation and facilitation of institutional diagnostics applying the ILO methodology as a tool to strengthen gender mainstreaming in organisations, enterprises, policies and social actors' agendas. The course is also aimed to representatives from governments and public authorities, employers and workers organizations, equal opportunity units, academics, United Nations and civil-society staff, gender experts and professional working on gender, diversity, inclusion and organizational change.

COURSE FACILITATORS

The training and the Certification will be carried out by gender experts that have applied the ILO PGA methodology, ran audits and are expert trainers. They have a wide experience in directly assisting national and international institutions worldwide on how to mainstream gender in development programmes and organizations/enterprises.

A selection committee will review complete applications and only candidates meeting essential prerequisites will be admitted.

CERTIFICATION PROCESS

Candidates to the Certification process will have to attend a learning journey, which include two mandatory elements:

During the evaluation, participants will undertake a twofold examination: written tests and practical exercises and simulations.
